

SOVEREIGN STONE

Classical Garden
Statuary & Ornaments

Sovereign Stone were established by the Walsh family in the early 1980's where, from their original location in a small village in Kent, they designed and produced a small range of traditional handmade garden statues.

In 1995 the present Managing Director, Darren Collins, joined the business as an apprentice and trained under the watchful eye of its founders. He learnt and adopted their traditional production skills which still lay at the heart of the company's quality first philosophy.

Darren is as passionate about the products today as he was in those early days and he still supervises all production to ensure the quality is consistent and of the highest order.

Sovereign Stone are still based in Kent and recognised for their high quality, handmade products which are manufactured from re-cycled materials sourced from the surrounding areas wherever possible.

A wide range of traditional and contemporary, garden figurines and ornaments are now produced by Sovereign Stone to compliment any garden or outside setting.
